

With 150 years of protecting consumers and markets as our foundation, the nation's state insurance regulators are leading in a time of change. We are preparing now for the forces shaping tomorrow's insurance sector. Our constituents are your constituents. Together we can best protect consumers and promote strong and innovative markets. Together we can State Ahead.

The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) is the U.S. standard-setting and regulatory support organization created and governed by the chief insurance regulators from the 50 states, the District of Columbia and five U.S. territories. Through the NAIC, state insurance regulators establish standards and best practices, conduct peer review, and coordinate regulatory oversight.
