

CIPR Webinar: Cybersecurity and the Value of Information Sharing

Thursday, March 8, 2018

11:30 a.m. – 12:45 p.m. Eastern

The NAIC/Center for Insurance Policy and Research (CIPR) mission is to serve federal and state lawmakers, federal and state regulatory agencies, international regulatory agencies, and insurance consumers, by enhancing intergovernmental cooperation and awareness, improving consumer protection and promoting legitimate marketplace competition. To help achieve this mission, the CIPR hosts annual events and webinars that bring together a number of dynamic and informative speakers and panelists.

The CIPR is collaborating with The Financial Services Information Sharing and Analysis Center (FS-ISAC) on this webinar to provide policymakers with a non-advocative, nonpartisan educational program. FS-ISAC facilitates the sharing of information, including threat information, best practices, and regulatory issues, among thousands of institutions globally.

Cybersecurity is now regular topic of boardroom conversation and has emerged as a top concern for financial institutions, regulators, and others in government. As technologies proliferate, numerous security solutions have emerged. Although many of these solutions cost millions of dollars to deploy, there's one that has become an essential and inexpensive tool to mitigate some of these risks: a strong, trusted, and effective information-sharing community. Information sharing remains one of the most effective ways to stay ahead of cybercrime. This webinar will begin with introductory remarks by Director Raymond Farmer of the South Carolina Department of Insurance, followed by a presentation from FS-ISAC on the cyber threat landscape, recent insurer cyber-attacks and the mission of FS-ISAC.
